

PRESS RELEASE n.3

Participation is growing in the Aosta Valley for the prestigious early July regularity event, now renamed the Cisalpina Classic Race powered by Allianz Investitori SGR. Among the new features is the Sunday golf tournament in Courmayeur, on the stunning courses of Val Ferret.

April 25, 2025 – With less than three months to go before the early summer motorsport event, numerous historic cars and modern GTs along with their crews have already been added to the entry list of the 3rd Cisalpina Classic Race (July 3–5, 2025). The race is included in the official ACI Sport national calendar and is valid for the Grandi Eventi Italian Championship (modern Gran Turismo) and the ACI Sport Super Classica for classic cars.

The organizational team from Classic Paddock, in coordination with the local authorities of the Upper Aosta Valley, has finalized every detail of the intense three-day route, which stretches between the Mont Blanc massif and the Great St. Bernard Pass. The event will feature around 100 timed trials, including both classic and average-speed regularity tests, hosted in breathtaking locations that will stage the pre-race presentation, stage starts and finishes, and the final award ceremony.

Among the modern grand tourers, Ferrari supercars shine brightly: from the 812 GTS and Superfast, to the models designated by the Cavallino Rampante to represent the Modena-based company in the World Endurance Championship — from the 488 Pista with its 4-liter V8, to the 296 GTB with a 3-liter twin-turbo V6. BMW will also make a statement in the Aosta Valley with two symbols of the Munich brand's sportiness: the Z4 3000 and the more powerful M6 with a five-liter engine.

The eternal duel between Ferrari and Porsche continues here as well, with the Porsche 356 (both the classic and the higher-performance Speedster versions) going head-to-head with a Maranello icon: the 512 TR, equipped with a naturally aspirated 5-liter V12 engine, famously known as the Testa Rossa.

Among the historic entries, nearly a century-old legends stand out, including the 1927 Lancia Lambda Casaro, the 1949 Simca 8 Sport GP, the 1970 Alpine A110, as well as the Alfa GT and Lancia Fulvia HF.

The organizers of Classic Paddock, in charge of the 3rd CISALPINA CLASSIC RACE 2025, are proud to announce their partnership with ALLIANZ INVESTITORI SGR, a company within the Allianz Group, dedicated to managing high-net-worth portfolios.
